

CONCLUDING STATEMENT OF AN AGNOSTIC ASTROPHYSICIST

Robert Jastrow concluded, "That there are what I or anyone would call supernatural forces at work is now, I think, a scientifically proven fact." He further observed, "Astronomers now find that they have painted themselves into a corner because they have proven, by their own methods, that the world began abruptly in an act of creation...And they have found that all this happened as a product of forces they cannot hope to discover." Thus, he notes that "the scientist's pursuit of the past ends in the moment of creation," and "this is an exceedingly strange development, unexpected by all the theologians. They have always accepted the word of the Bible: 'In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.'"
